

Rainwater harvesting

Rainwater harvesting

Rain is the main form of water for us. Rainwater harvesting system is one of the most important natural methods for the conservation of rainwater.

In this process, rainwater is collected from the rooftops of houses and is directed using pipes to underground wells or reservoirs where it is stored. It recharges the groundwater for drinking as well as for irrigation. Rooftop rainwater harvesting is widely practised in Rajasthan.